

Two FBI Agents Slain While Serving Warrants

MINER—Harry Ison takes a breather from tunneling under Route 22 in an effort to install a 21-inch storm sewer for the Nicholas Drive improvement project being completed by the D. E. Goodchild Co. Ison, who expects to have the 47-foot tunnel completed later today, uses a small shovel to chip away the dirt under the road. It is loaded into a pull cart and emptied on the outside by Orville Blevins, left. As Ison completes a section, an eight-foot length of spiral-weld pipe is welded to the tunnel and it is rammed into place by a hydraulic jack assembly. Ison, who says the job is "hot and dirty," was given the task so work crews wouldn't block Route 22 by digging an above-ground trench for the sewer line.

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (AP) — "It looked like an execution. They were riddled with bullets," South Dakota Atty. Gen. William Janklow said today after two FBI agents were shot to death on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation.

The two FBI agents were dragged out of their cars and killed Thursday when they tried to serve warrants on people who were holed up in a house, authorities said.

An Indian in the house was reported killed in an exchange of gunfire, but it was not known when he was killed.

Federal agents pursued occupants of the house through the hills of the reservation Thursday night, but at 1:30 a.m. the FBI agent in charge of the operation said the gunfire had stopped, "as far as I know."

FBI Special Agent Joseph Trimbach said his men were continuing to patrol the reservation roads, but no arrests had been made.

The house where agents Jack R. Coler and Ronald A. Williams were killed is about 5 miles southeast of the reservation community of Oglala, not far from the village of Wounded Knee which militant Indians occupied for 71 days in 1973.

Coler, 28, worked out of the Denver office of the FBI and was on special assignment to the reservation. Williams, also 28, worked out of the FBI office in Rapid City, S.D.

At the state capital in Pierre, Gov. Richard Kneip's office issued a statement saying the governor had been told the two FBI men were lured into an ambush.

The governor said the agents were "dragged out of their car and shot 15 to 20 times."

Kneip's statement also said there were unconfirmed reports that as many as 30 persons were waiting in the house when the agents arrived.

A spokesman for Kneip said the governor's statements were based on reports from authorities on the scene.

In Washington, an FBI spokesman agreed with Janklow that the agents' deaths looked like an execution. The spokesman said his reports indicated that the two agents were nearing the house when they were hit by gunfire.

Then the gunmen approached the wounded agents and pumped bullets into their heads, the spokesman said.

The FBI refused to say how many agents had been sent to the scene, but Janklow, in response to a reporter's questions, said 100 men would be a conservative estimate.

FBI agents and BIA police on the reservation flushed an undetermined number of persons out of the house late Thursday night, said BIA spokesman Toby Moran. He said firing continued in the wooded, hilly terrain near the house as darkness spread over the sprawling reservation.

Moran said an FBI agent told him that one of the persons being sought had been killed.

BIA police set up roadblocks on the main roads leading to the scene of the shooting. No one was allowed into the area.

Authorities released few details about the deaths of the FBI agents.

However, Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., told The Associated Press the FBI told him the trouble started when the two agents attempted to serve warrants on a man wanted in connection with an alleged kidnapping.

Abourezk said the FBI told him that on Wednesday it had identified five Indians who had allegedly kidnapped a white man and his son who lived on the reservation.

The senator said the FBI also told him that there appeared to be bunkers near the house, but it was unclear whether they were man-made or natural.

Ohio Lawmakers Push Road Budget Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's lawmakers are expected to complete action today on a separate $731 million transportation department budget bill and then adjourn for a July 4 holiday extending to July 8.

Leaders of the Democratic assembly decided Thursday to go ahead with the break after being advised by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes that his partial veto of the main $10.6 billion budget bill will not put the state in an immediate financial bind.

Howard L. Collier, director of the Office of Budget and Management, announced a news conference for Monday to discuss Rhodes' veto message. He said the partial veto would not necessitate interim budget measures, as Democrats had feared.

The state's two-year bookkeeping period ends at midnight Monday, and the new document must become law by that time in order for bills to be paid on time.

Collier refused to say what parts of the bill Rhodes plans to reject, but there were reports he may be ready to veto all appropriations for the second year of the 1975-1977 biennium.

The director told lawmakers earlier that the bills was about $100 million out of balance, and predicted there would be several months in the second year when the state would not be able to meet its expenses.

Vetoing second year funds is not unprecedented. Former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, a Democrat, did it in 1961 after his party lost control of the legislature to Republicans.

In major action Thursday:

—Insurance Director Harry V. Jump asked a Senate subcommittee to restore to a House-passed medical malpractice bill a provision limiting fees that can be charged by attorneys. He accused lobbying trial lawyers of being "short sighted" and trying to assure themselves of "a fountain of money" for handling medical malpractice lawsuits.

—The House Finance Committee began hearings on a bill providing for $577.8 million in capital improvements in the next two years, with revenue bond financing. Higher education would get the biggest share, $323.5 million, while $221.8 million is set aside for mental health and mental retardation construction projects.

Otherwise, in floor action, the Senate approved measures making corrections in the state's new marriage dissolution law, extending burial assistance to recipients of Aid to Dependent Children, and clarifying the status of certain employers under unemployment compensation laws. They all now go to the House.

The lower chamber approved, without significant opposition, and sent to the Senate measures establishing competitive bidding procedures for university vendor contracts, providing training for election board employees, and relaxing certain provisions in voter registration laws.

Representatives concurred in Senate amendments to a bill that provides $2 million for a pilot project to help disadvantaged children in an urban area yet to be chosen. The House refused, however, to go along with Senate amendments to a bill by Rep. Walter D. McClaskey, R-86 Marion, revising state veterinarian laws.

McClaskey's bill was among three that headed Thursday into joint conference committees to try to resolve differences between the two chambers. The others provide identification cards for nondrivers, and seek to establish a minimum age for marriage.

Kennedy Dampens Supporter's Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy appears to have dampened the lingering hopes among some of his supporters that he would ultimately be willing to accept the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

Kennedy did so by spelling out more precisely than ever before his refusal to accept a 1976 presidential draft, even if it were the only way to prevent the Democrats from nominating Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

His statement, in response to a question during a nationally televised interview Wednesday night with CBS correspondent Walter Cronkite, comes after repeated speculation whether there were circumstances under which he might get back into the race.

Such speculation has continued despite Kennedy's statement last Sept. 23 that his decision against a 1976 race is "firm, final and unconditional" and that "there is absolutely no circumstance or event that will alter the decision. I will not accept the nomination. I will not accept a draft."

And that speculation has been renewed in recent weeks because of heightened concern among many Democratic leaders that none of the party's present or prospective candidates is strong enough to beat the Alabama governor in many of the 30 presidential primaries now scheduled next year.

Cronkite's question about a Kennedy candidacy included a scenario in which no candidate had a clear lead, Wallace held one-third of the delegates and some of the other candidates were "willing to make arrangements with Gov. Wallace and that the only way that this move could be stopped would be if you stepped forward as a candidate or accepted a draft."

"Wouldn't you have a responsibility to accept the draft if it occurred under those circumstances?" Cronkite asked.

Kennedy replied, "The answer would be 'No, I don't believe so.' He added that "I don't believe that that will be the set of circumstances in 1976."

Kennedy was then asked if that meant he could accept a Wallace candidacy.

"No, it does not," Kennedy replied. "I've indicated I wouldn't support a ticket with Mr. Wallace on it."

"But you wouldn't go so far as to be a candidate to stop it?" Cronkite repeated.

"That's right," Kennedy said.

Fireworks Bootleggers Find Activities Easier This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal agents are easing their efforts to track down bootleggers of illegal firecrackers this Independence Day season.

Mary K. Ryan, acting director of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission's bureau of compliance, explained that last year's surveillance activities were fruitless.

"We didn't produce many undercover buys. A couple, no more," she said. The commission enforces the federal law against the sale of certain fireworks.

A June 6 memorandum from the agency to regional offices directs investigators to spend only half as much time as they did during the last Fourth of July season in contacting fireworks dealers and attempting to make undercover purchases of contraband explosives.

However, most states have laws regulating the sale or possession of fireworks. State and local officials enforce those laws.

The commission has estimated that 6,600 Americans were treated in hospital emergency rooms in 1973 for fireworks-related injuries. But manufacturers of legitimate fireworks contend that many serious injuries are caused by big, illegal firecrackers or homemade devices.

The National Safety Council, urging parents to be vigilant to protect children, said more persons have died in fireworks accidents in U.S. history than were killed in the Revolutionary War.

Ms. Ryan said her memo was not an order, but a general guide to regional directors. Last year about 700 man-hours were expended on fireworks in July and August, she said.

"As long as there's some surveillance, that's the important thing," she said. "There's a deterrent factor there."

Investigators are directed to check fireworks stands where "past history indicates a strong likelihood of continued violations," and to follow "credible leads, consumer and trade complaints and reports of injuries."

Rain Falls In Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Showers and thunderstorms washed scattered areas from the southern Plains to the Great Lakes today as cooler weather crept into the mid-continent.

No severe storms were reported except for a funnel cloud in Texas.

Locally heavy rains triggered flooding on small rivers and streams Thursday in southwest Iowa. Downpours of up to 2 inches fell on sections already saturated from several days of intermittent rain. Flooding also developed in portions of western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia.

Isolated showers sprinkled parts of the Pacific Northwest and northern Rockies in the predawn hours, and thundershowers watered widely scattered areas in the East and South.

Fair weather prevailed from the Southwest through the central Rockies and in sections of the Midwest and Northeast.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 39 at Butte, Mont., to 84 at Needles, Calif., and Big Springs, Tex.

Kelley Opposes Wiretap Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley opposed Thursday congressional proposals to prohibit wiretapping, bugging and surreptitious entry without a court order. He said the proposals would have a "crippling impact."

Under the proposals, court orders permitting such activities would have to be based on the probability of the commission of crimes.

Kelley took his position before the House civil liberties subcommittee, which disclosed that 232 wiretaps and bugs were used in 1974 without court orders.

Ford Names Dr. Mathews HEW Leader

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Dr. F. David Mathews, nominated to be secretary of health, education and welfare, says he hopes the public realizes "what a hard and often thankless task this post has become."

Mathews, 39-year-old president of the University of Alabama, made the comment at a news conference shortly after President Ford sent his name to the Senate for confirmation.

He would succeed Caspar W. Weinberger, who resigned, reportedly to return to California because of his wife's health. Weinberger has been mentioned as a possible GOP gubernatorial candidate in that state.

Mathews, who would be the seventh Cabinet member chosen in Ford's 10-month-old administration, said he hoped it was clear that he did not seek the nomination — "It is rather a draft to assume an extremely difficult assignment, and it should be remembered that the nomination must be confirmed by the Senate."

But Mathews also said, "I am honored by President Ford's personal confidence in me and pleased that he himself brought my name into this matter."

HEW, which spends one out of every three federal dollars, is beset by money problems. Colleges and universities are seeking more aid, health costs are soaring and welfare rolls are at an all time high.

Mathews, who has been president of the 13,000-student university since 1969, said he would seek a leave of absence from the school's board of trustees while serving in the Ford administration.

Mathews and his wife, Mary, are both from Grove Hill, a hamlet in southwest Alabama, and he credits his growing up in a small town for his success in life.

"I'm not quite sure what it is, but maybe it's just being surrounded by people who have confidence in you and will support you out of proportion," he said.

Mathews attracted the President's attention and had been appointed in recent months to the Bicentennial Commission and the President's Advisory Committee on Refugees.

The Jaycees picked Mathews as one of the 10 outstanding young men in the nation in 1969, and he is active in a number of civil and academic bodies.

Irving Files Bankruptcy

NEW YORK (AP) — His assets include a typewriter worth $35, a tape recorder worth $50, a camera worth $75 and an auto valued at $100.

But author Clifford Irving, who along with his wife went to jail for faking an autobiography of Howard Hughes, says it's not enough to cover his debts — $55,864,248.01.

Irving's attorneys filed an application for voluntary bankruptcy Wednesday in Brooklyn Federal Court, listing assets of $410 and the bulk of his liabilities as a $55 million libel suit pending in U.S. District Court in Manhattan.

The suit was filed by Fernand Legros, an artist who was the subject of an earlier Irving book entitled "Fake."

Other liabilities include $344,899 Irving still owes publishers McGraw-Hill, who bought the fake Hughes book on the assumption that Irving and Hughes cooperated in the work; $140,000 in income taxes and $192,476 in legal fees.

Irving said he also owns a "worthless" sailboat on the Spanish island of Ibiza, where his wife, Edith, is living with their two children.

Cincinnati's Win Lottery

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati-area residents cornered the top prizes in the Ohio lottery's Buckeye 300 competition Thursday night.

Fifty-one-year-old Wilgus Fraley of Norwood walked off with the top $300,000 prize and Joel Robinson of Cincinnati won the $30,000 second prize.

Fraley, who says he just takes things "as they come," had no plans for spending his big winnings.

He said he will "see how things work out" before deciding whether to retire from his job as a General Motors Corp. welder.

He said he just might "keep on working for a little bit."

Fraley said he was divorced and has a son, Edward A. Fraley, of Newtown, and three grandchildren.

He said he doesn't have any hobbies. He used to "love to hunt, but I got shot at a couple of times, so I quit."

"I just like to loaf around and talk to my friends."

The other four contestants each took home $15,000 minimum prizes. The four included Maxine Schmitt of Wheeling, W.Va., and Ohioans John Petrek, Bedford Heights; Richard Cimachowski, Sheffield Lake; and William Ackison, Ironton.

Mental Patients Given Break

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Thursday that states may not constitutionally confine mental patients who present no danger to themselves or others in institutions without treatment.

The court unanimously affirmed that harmless patients have a constitutional right to treatment as long as they are confined in a state institution against their will.

"A finding of 'mental illness' alone cannot justify a state's locking a person up against his will and keeping him indefinitely in simple custodial confinement," Justice Potter Stewart wrote for the court.

Even if the mentally ill "can be identified with reasonable ease, there is still no constitutional basis for confining such persons involuntarily if they are dangerous to no one and can live safely in freedom," he continued.

Revolting System

Two classes of people are feared more by communist dictators than any others: people who demonstrate individual initiative and honest intellectuals. The former are feared because they possess the vestiges of individual freedom and the latter because they have the courage to expound these beliefs.

According to the Soviet newspaper Sovetskaya Kultura, Chinese communist party boss Mao Tse-Tung is in a renewed battle with both classes of Chinese citizens. For several months, according to the paper, a new campaign to "restrict bourgeois rights" has been underway in China.

Reminiscent of the Mao-inspired Red Guard rebellion in which large numbers of Chinese were killed for the cause of continuing revolution, the latest internal upheaval has much the same purpose. The targets are workers who balk at not being paid for what they produce, peasants who have managed to hold ownership of small patches of land and intellectuals.

Class warfare is a particularly ugly form of internal strife, one which political demagogues are adept at fomenting. It is a prime weapon of communist rulers, especially useful at times when unrest and dissatisfaction make an appearance among the people.

Horrors Of The Past

By JIM BISHOP

America has a depressing affinity for disasters. Current movies run the gamut from "Towering Inferno" to "Earthquake." The ultimate is a literary work written by John Walker entitled "Disasters" (Follett). If I complete my memoirs, I may steal the title.

It is Mr. Walker's contention, while recounting the horrors of the past, that they could have been avoided. The Pittsburgh gas storage tank of 1927 is an example.

It contained 5-million cubic feet of gas. It was leaking. A group of profound thinkers looked for the leak with a blow torch. At 10 a.m., Nov. 14, 1927, the tank, and two others nearby, rose slowly in the skylike balloons.

Casualties: 28 dead, 500 injured. It also leveled one square mile of Pittsburgh. The Dupont Glazing Mill at Fontanet, Indiana, exploded at 9 a.m. on October 17, 1907. Men in gunpowder factories ran to the streets. So did women at home and children.

Two more plants exploded, raining debris on the running people. Firemen and rescuers waited awhile, then moved in to rescue the wounded. At 10:45 a.m. 65,000 kegs of gunpowder blew up, killing rescuers. It shattered windows in a train four miles off, injuring passengers. School walls collapsed injuring more than 50 students. Dead: 31. Injured: 600.

In Brussels, Belgium, on May 22, 1967, a Monday, over a thousand customers were inside the huge glass-domed L'Innovation at noon. A clerk was demonstrating camping equipment on the fourth floor. A little camper's heater exploded.

Nobody tried to toss a blanket over it. Everyone ran. The flames trapped all on the upper floors. Some jumped to their death. Some clambered onto the glass dome. The dome collapsed into the flames.

Firemen did little but wet the ruins. Toll: 322 dead. A week or so ago a 16-year-old prisoner near Orlando, Florida, set fire to mattresses at noon. All but one guard ran to safety. Twelve prisoners and a guard were smoked to death. Three hours later, a state official arrived with plans for fire sprinklers in the cells.

On a June day like this in 1904, 1,800 mothers and children of St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church of New York marched to an East River pier. The side-wheeler, "General Slocum," was ready to move up river to Forest Grove for a day-long picnic.

The excursion boat was an hour on her way when fire broke out in the paint locker forward. The captain saw the smoke and set off alarm bells. All it did was alarm the crew.

They came up from the engine room and off the decks and jumped. By the time the mothers discovered the danger, flames were fanning aft as the captain, instead of reversing his paddles, raced toward shore.

The woman screamed, grabbed their children and life jackets, and jumped. The life jackets were waterlogged, stamped "Approved" by New York City inspectors, and 1,030 died. One crew member drowned. His pockets were heavy with coins.

Sometimes it requires thinking to engineer a catastrophe. In Gillingham, England, fire brigades staged a mock fire and rescue every July. In 1929, one fireman on the roof of a three-story wooden building was dressed as a bride. Parents asked if their boys could participate, because the real fire was never started until after the rescue by real fireman and real ladders.

A match was dropped into an oil barrel on the ground floor. Smoke ensued. The "bride" and the boys on the roof began to scream. Mothers and fathers below applauded. "Good show!" The fire brigade arrived quickly, but the walls were too weak to hold the ladders.

Dear Editor:

The Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club just recently sponsored me as a delegate from Circleville High School to the 29th annual Buckeye Girls' State at Capital University.

I want to publicly express my thanks and gratitude to the members of this organization for their concern about young people. This week-long experience in mock government was a wonderful experience and one I shall always treasure among my teenage memories.

I felt very proud to represent Circleville High School and my community. I was elected to serve on the State Board of Education and I thoroughly enjoyed this responsibility.

While at Girls' State I met many great girls from all over our state. I know I have made friendships I shall never forget. Girls of many different backgrounds, races and faiths came together in a learning experience about our system of government.

We heard many inspirational speakers and I know we have come

Road Workers To 'Volunteer' On Petitions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Employees of the Department of Transportation have been asked to work after hours without pay to circulate petitions for Gov. James A. Rhodes' four proposed constitutional amendments, Director Richard D. Jackson confirmed Wednesday night.

But the director told the Senate Finance Committee, which is considering his department's $731 million operating budget, that it is not being required of the workers. He said "there will be no reprisals against those who refuse."

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, committee chairman, brought up the question, he said, as a result of phone calls he and others have been receiving from disgruntled department employees.

He said he doubted that the employees were not being coerced and added: "There's a lot of arm twisting going on, that's for sure."

Jackson replied "I run the department, and I am saying that they don't have to do it. There might be something else going on at the lower levels, I can't say, but I am not naive enough to think that there couldn't be."

Meshel and others on the Democrat-controlled committee questioned Jackson at length about the four November ballot proposals, which include one $1.67 billion bond issue for the department.

In response, Jackson told the committee:

—Department employees have been asked to obtain one petition for each of the four ballot issues. Each petition has space for 25 voter signatures.

—Petitions are being delivered to regional offices of the department on state time and at state expense. "I think this is a proper function for the department," Jackson said.

—Records are being kept as to how many and which petitions are obtained by each employee "so that they can be returned if they are found to be defective."

Meshel said he thinks the petition effort is "blatantly political" and runs counter to the Republican governor's pledge he was going to "take his programs to the people."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My five year old daughter was bitten on the face by a dog who was tied to a post outside a store.

She didn't even try to play with him — simply brushed by him. Now we are told she will need plastic surgery. Shouldn't there be laws to protect us from such dangers?

Mrs. H. B. O., Tex.

Dear Mrs. O.: Although I am a dog lover I am aware of the dangers of which you speak.

There are two factors that deserve precautionary measures if the thousands of animal bites that occur each year are to be reduced.

The first rule is that no unmuzzled dog should be tied on a public thoroughfare while its owner is even briefly away from it. The leashed dog can feel abandoned, frightened and defenseless. Any gesture by a child or an adult may suggest a possible threat.

The second factor is that everyone, particularly children must be taught the proper way to approach a strange animal.

The rules are simple.

1) Don't approach a strange dog that is tied.

2) Don't tease or mistreat an animal, even a family pet.

3) Don't disturb a dog who is eating or chewing on a bone.

4) Don't suddenly wake a sleeping dog.

5) Don't pet a strange dog unless you have been given permission by the owner. Children especially should ask if the dog is friendly and likes to be petted.

6) Don't reach out to pet a strange dog until he has first come to smell your extended hand. Speak softly to the dog and don't make sudden motions.

I have always been impressed, too, by another hazard that is overlooked. Friendly dogs often chase youngsters on bicycles. The combination of a dog, a bicycle and oncoming automobiles is an obvious threat.

It is surprising how often the dog is less at fault than the child or adult who is bitten. Proper education, muzzling of dogs that are off the leash or tied and a respect for dogs of all sizes can diminish such sad experiences as yours.

Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans have come through the economic shrinking process a bit wrung out themselves but not without having learned some lessons.

Millions of Americans seem to have adjusted to the adversity that was reintroduced into life after the 1960s' great expansions. They've cut back, learned to do without, accepted a lower standard of living.

During the 1960s, Americans ascended into a lifestyle that many hadn't aspired to even in their dreams. For some families luxuries became necessities: Boats, second cars, second homes, long vacations.

Many a sociologist wrote that never again would Americans be satisfied with less, but that hasn't turned out to be so. The American of the 1970s has shown his resiliency, his willingness and ability to adapt.

The savings rate recently was up to around 9 per cent, which is roughly 50 per cent higher than the long-term average. It shows Americans don't need to spend just because they have it. It shows they know how to build capital.

Installment loans have been reduced sharply over the past few months. It shows Americans still believe in living within their incomes and won't tolerate a burden of debt they consider excessive.

It was feared that Americans wouldn't cut back on living standards, even temporarily, but would go into debt to keep up appearances, if only to themselves. This hasn't been so. Any butcher will confirm it.

Consumption of expensive red meats had been rising almost every year for more than two decades. But in recent years the per capita consumption has almost ceased to rise, and has actually fallen in some months. Americans kept their wallets folded.

They discovered nutrition too, and now many companies accommodate increasingly scientific shoppers by printing nutritional ingredients on their labels. Substance rather than appearance now is the guide.

Business too has shown it can adapt, even if the adaptation might appear to be forced by consumer or government groups. Regardless of the pressure's source, the response has been forthcoming.

The automobile horsepower war has been replaced by the fuel economy race, with benefits to all parties except—and maybe temporarily—the auto companies themselves.

The list of products that have adjusted to the new environment is long: Air conditioners using less electricity; clothes requiring no pressing, houses consisting of basics instead of needless adornments.

Within much of American business there is a cost consciousness unequalled since the Great Depression.

Government also showed it could adapt, even if its response might have been slower than desirable. Taxes were cut back when many thought the only direction was up.

It can be argued that the areas of responsiveness to change are more than matched by obstinance; that people, business and government choose to ignore realities. But it is worth noting too that out of some of the most financially distressful times within memory, some good did result.

Summit Meeting Hopes Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The hope rekindled by President Ford for a 35-nation summit conference in July may become a reality within a few days, according to U.S. officials.

By then, they said, the two tricky problems that stand in the way of such a conference could be at the point of solution.

A summit next month in Helsinki could clear the way for Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev to visit here this fall to join Ford in signing a new treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

Ford, at his news conference Wednesday evening, said that only a few months ago a summer summit did not seem possible. However, he said "there have been some compromises made and there may be others achieved that would permit a summit this summer in Helsinki."

Rights Lawyers Win Big Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, showing sharp divisions as it nears the end of its term, has handed civil rights lawyers a sweeping victory in what the lawyers regarded as their biggest job discrimination case in four years.

The court ruled Wednesday that victims of job discrimination can collect back pay without proving their employers acted in bad faith. In the same ruling, it held that employment tests which screen out blacks may not be used unless they are shown by "professionally acceptable methods" to be job-related.

"We think it will have tremendous practical importance," attorney Barry L. Goldstein of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund said of the decision.

George (Doc) Triplitt, 84, 341 Hay Place, Coshocton, died on June 5 in County Memorial hospital after a four-month illness.

He was born Nov. 15, 1890 in Stockport, the son of Charles and Elizabeth Triplitt.

He was a graduate of Stockport High school and received his degree in Pharmacy from the University of Cincinnati in 1913.

On Feb. 12, 1916, he married Lura Lynn and the same year moved to Laurelville where he purchased the local drugstore which he operated for 12 years. While in Laurelville he was active in all civic affairs and was a member of the school board.

On Jan. 10, 1928 the Triplitt family moved to Coshocton where "Doc" established the Triplitt Pharmacy on Main Street which his son George Jr. now operates.

George Sr. continued to work in the store part time after his retirement until he became ill four months ago. Before becoming a pharmacist Triplitt was employed by the Marietta Torpedo Company as an oil well shooter. He was a member of the American Trap Shooters Assn. having won state meets in New York and Arizona. He had also been a baseball player.

He was a member of Grace United Methodist Church of Coshocton, Royal Arch Masons of Coshocton, a 50-year member of F and AM. Valley Lodge 145 in Malta. He had belonged to the Masonic Lodge for 50 years.

He and Mrs. Triplitt celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary last February.

Survivors besides his wife and son, are two daughters, Mrs. Paul (Sara) Ebert of Dover; Mrs. Glen (Mary Lucile) Hudson of Columbus; 10 grandchildren; two great granddaughters; and one sister, Mrs. Herbert Walker of Malta.

He was predeceased by his parents, a son, a brother and three sisters.

Funeral services were held on June 7 in the Given Funeral Home in Coshocton with burial in South Lawn cemetery.

Friends were ask, if they wished, to make contributions to the Coshocton chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Miss Sarah Newland, bride-elect of Roger Morehead, was guest of honor at a linen and personal shower on Friday at the home of Mrs. Peggy Davis of near South Bloomingville. Hostesses were Miss Candy Newland, Miss Becky Littlejohn and Mrs. Davis.

The guest list included, Martha Allison, Anita Scites, Pam Notestone, Linda Arledge, Pat Eveland, Dena Williams, Cathy Morehead, Joni Morehead, Mary Morehead, Rosie Morehead and Jeanie Morehead. Games were won by Pam Notestone and Joni Morehead.

Refreshments of cake, punch, potato chips and gumdrop roses were served.

Miss Becky McClelland received her master of arts degree during the graduation ceremonies at Ohio State University on June 13. Her parents, Merwin and Dorothy McClelland, attended the services which were held in the OSU stadium. Becky will be teaching German in the high school at Pickerington this fall and will also be a guidance counselor.

It is always a pleasure to meet old friends and to reminisce a while, and so it was last Saturday when four ladies visited me at my home. When three of them lived in Laurelville many years ago they were known as the Crider girls. They are still the Crider girls but have added other last names, at least two of them have.

They are Ollie Crider Goodwin, Clara Crider Terry and Margaret Crider. They all live in Columbus as does another sister Nora (Babe) Crider Frank.

Their parents, Ben and Emma Crider and my parents were friends for many years. Driving for the ladies on their trip to Laurel Valley was their niece who is also a Laurelville native, Mrs. Deloras Crider Drummond of Massillon. She had been visiting her aunts last week.

They all enjoyed dinner at Norma's restaurant then went calling on old friends. Others they enjoyed visiting with were Mrs. Violet Jinks McDaniel, Frances McClelland, and Mrs. Bertha Jinks.

Mrs. and Mrs. H. C. Hartsaugh were in Amanda Friday evening to help their daughter, Mrs. Alice Pontious, celebrate her birthday. Others joining in the get together were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Faigley, sons Tim and Steve of Lancaster, Mrs. Ethel Pontious of Amanda, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Pontious Jr. of Washington C.H. the honored guest's husband Vic and their daughter LuAnne.

Dick Karr called at Wellman Funeral home on Saturday to see Mr. George Defenbaugh who died at his Circleville home on Thursday. Mr. Defenbaugh who was 97 was Dick's first school teacher.

Mrs. Thomas Moore and baby daughter Jodelle Marie have been getting acquainted at the home of grandparents, Bob and Jean West on Laurel Street.

Mike Perry of Circleville has been visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Strous. Another grandson, Neil Overman, was an overnight guest last Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Wolf were last Wednesday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Taylor.

Enjoying a cookout with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Poling at their trailer south of town were Mr. and Mrs. John Downs of Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Good and daughter Jane Ann of Lancaster, Becky Fortner and Mike Poling.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowers returned home on Sunday from a trip to Alaska. The return trip was marred by Bob getting sick in the state of Washington and later they received the word that his mother, Mrs. Mabel Bowers had passed away.

Economic Figures Show Strong Surge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal index designed to anticipate economic trends advanced for the third straight month in May, the government reported today. This was seen as a solid signal of recovery and a hint that the resurgence could be strong.

The Commerce Department said its Composite Index of Leading Indicators rose 2.1 per cent in May, bringing the three-month climb to 5.7 per cent.

Economists who fashioned the index regard a three-month advance as a sure sign of a turnaround in the economy. So the latest rise provided support for the opinion of many economists that the worst recession since World War II is ending.

The latest figures also contained an encouraging signal about how strong the recovery will be.

The April increase, which originally had been reported as a record 4.2 per cent jump, was revised downward to a 3 per cent increase. But that rise still equaled the previous record set in June 1958.

And the May increase of 2.1 per cent—aside from the April rise—was the sharpest since a 2.2 per cent increase in December of 1970.

Most economists generally like to see more than three months of a new trend before they decide whether the index is giving a true signal of the strength of that trend. But they do consider the index signals on strength to be significant.

The index is composed of a dozen individual economic statistics which are selected for their tendency to move in advance of the economy generally.

Only 10 of the individual statistics were available for the May report, but eight of them pointed up. The other two—the lay-off rate in factories and the average work week in factories—were unchanged.

Among the other factors, companies reported an improved performance from their suppliers. Assets which could be quickly converted into cash rose. Key wholesale prices advanced. Business spending on factories and equipment rose. Stock prices also advanced; the supply of money in the economy expanded, more contractors took out building permits, and new orders placed with makers of consumer products increased.

Does Ring Prove He Popped Question?

DEAR ABBY: Please give us your opinion of this very important family matter.

My mother-in-law passed away, and about two hours after the funeral services, her youngest son went to play golf. (He is 50-years-old.)

My husband, an older brother, said he was so hurt that his brother showed so little respect for their mother's memory that he will never forgive him.

What do you think?

CALIFORNIAN
DEAR CALIFORNIAN: How much respect the younger brother showed his mother while she was alive is more important than how long after the funeral he waited to play golf. Everyone handles his grief in his own way.

DEAR ABBY: About four months ago, my boyfriend asked me to marry him. He is in the service and is stationed in another state.

I have not seen him since he popped the question, so I haven't received an engagement ring yet, although we did set a date for our wedding.

A friend of mine says that a girl is not really engaged unless she has a ring. She has never had a boyfriend and seldom gets asked out, so maybe she said that out of jealousy.

Still, I would like to know for sure. Does a girl have to have a ring in order to be officially engaged?

ALMOST MARRIED
DEAR ALMOST: A girl doesn't need a ring to be officially engaged. Although you haven't seen him for four months, I presume that you are in touch with one another. Has he questioned the pop since he popped the question?

DEAR ABBY: Let me say first that I am the mother of three and happily married, and have not the slightest desire to attract any man other than my husband.

I always wear pantsuits to work because I think they are more modest than dresses. I would stop wearing makeup and shave my head if it insured keeping my male coworker's mind off my femininity and on my ability to do my job.

In other words, I do not want to be viewed as a sex object. My friends and I have adopted a poem as our slogan. It was written by a 12-year-old girl:

"Please don't walk in front of me. I may not want to follow.

Don't walk behind me. I may not want to lead.

Please, walk beside me and be my friend."

Any man who demands that a woman display her body for him to ogle, and that she be young and have a good figure or suffer his scorn, can never be a friend.

Ruppert Described As Mentally Ill

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — James U. Ruppert, accused of slaying 11 members of his family on Easter Sunday and portrayed as mentally unbalanced, envisioned death by electrocution in a dream 14 years, according to his psychiatrist.

Dr. Glenn A. Weaver of Cincinnati introduced as evidence a three-page letter written by Ruppert describing the dream.

He was one of eight psychiatrists called to sketch Ruppert's mental background as defense attorneys' attempt to prove the 41-year-old unemployed draftman was innocent by reason of insanity.

The trial is currently recessed until Monday due to judicial duties of the judges.

Ruppert wrote in the letter that he "had been condemned to death for no known reason and my friends were gathered around me."

He wrote that he "pictured myself being electrocuted."

Dr. Weaver, who treated Ruppert between 1961 and 1965, interpreted Ruppert's dream as a feeling "that death can be no worse than life that eternity might be better."

Ruppert said that when he awoke and realized he was only dreaming "I immediately fell into a very deep sadness and cried loud and very hard, begging God's forgiveness for all that I've done wrong and feeling happy that I wasn't really dying in sin."

"Although in the dream I never gave any concern to the idea of whether or not I was in sin and made no attempt to ask forgiveness," Ruppert wrote.

He said he "was happy at the thought that the end was so close; I kept thinking 'this is it' what I've waited for all my life."

Ruppert said he was not concerned about dying "since life itself is nothing to speak of."

The prosecution has charged that Ruppert planned the murders to inherit $300,000 from the estates of his deceased family.

Cape Cod Skinny-Dipping Attacked Through Courts

BOSTON (AP) — Officially approved skinny-dipping on Cape Cod would attract crowds of nude bathers who would overrun the sand dunes that make the area unique, the federal government argues.

"The problem is not nudity. It is the attraction that a nude beach has to people," Supt. Lawrence Hadley of the Cape Cod National Seashore said Wednesday in court testimony defending a ban on naked bathing in the area.

The Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts filed suit in U.S. District Court seeking to have the ban on skinny-dipping declared unconstitutional because it would violate the rights of nude bathers to free expression.

Judge Frank H. Freedman said he would decide the issue after lawyers present written arguments Friday.

During the past few summers, nude bathing has become popular at Brush Hollow Beach, a remote stretch of sand in Truto, on the outer reaches of Cape Cod.

On two weekends last summer, crowds at the beach reached more than 1,000 — nude sunbathers and nude sunbather watchers — despite the fact that people had to walk about a mile up the seashore or across the dunes and beach grass.

Hadley said the sunbathers parked illegally, trespassed, littered the beaches and damaged the dunes and grass. This year, the National Park Service, which runs the national seashore, banned nudity.

Hadley said the beach is within one day's drive of one-third of the nation's population and that if the nudity ban is revoked, vast hordes of people would be drawn to the area.

"If that beach is officially designated as the only nude beach in the Northeast, there is nothing we could do to cope with the number of people who would be attracted to it," he said.

Civil liberties' attorney Alan Der-showitz countered that the National Park Service has not tried alternative ways of limiting the crowds, such as enforcing parking laws.

Miss Cheryl Ann LeMay Bride Of Thomas Driver

MRS. THOMAS AUGUST DRIVER

Gethsemane United Methodist Church of Muncie, Ind., was the setting for the wedding of Miss Cheryl Ann LeMay and Mr. Thomas August Driver. The church was decorated with a single hamper of Spring flowers emphasizing the color scheme of green and yellow, and a wedding candle surrounded by daisies and yellow rosebuds.

The Rev. William D. Meddock performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron LeMay, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don F. Driver, Valparaiso, Ind.

A program of nuptial selections was presented preceding the ceremony by Mr. Larry Mecham, organist, and Miss Jennifer Rohrdan, vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. For the wedding she selected a candlelight satin formal length gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, basque waist with a bustled back falling into a full train. Her wide brimmed picture hat of candlelight satin and organdy held a fingertip veil. The gown was first worn by the bridegroom's mother 28 years ago. The bride's bouquet was of white daisies accented with yellow rosebuds and white ribbon streamers.

Miss Renee LeMay was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a yellow flowered crepe full length gown with a matching shawl and natural straw hat with a ribbon matching her gown.

Bridesmaids were Miss Terri Burt of Muncie, Ind., and Miss Janis Kline of Rockland, Ill. They were dressed identically to the honor attendant in mint green. They carried bouquets of yellow daisies and the attendants all were personalized lockets, gifts of the bride.

Miss Heather Luce was flower girl and Master Matthew Luce, ring bearer.

Mr. David F. Driver, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Gary Raillieux, Mr. David Paupp, Mr. Richard Miller and Mr. David LeMay, brother of the bride.

Mrs. LeMay wore a floor length mint green crepe gown and a corsage of yellow cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Driver chose a shrimp colored floor length gown with a corsage of yellow cymbidium orchids.

A reception at the church immediately followed the ceremony. The green and yellow theme was carried out in the four tiered cake, decorated with yellow roses, and the green lime punch. Hostesses were Miss Zaheda Flannery and Mrs. Edward Linchum, of Muncie, and Miss Sheri Rivers of Mt. Sterling.

For a wedding trip to Turkey Run State Park lodge near Marshall, Ind., the bride wore yellow double knit slacks with a striped matching halter top and blazer style jacket. Her watch necklace was a gift from the bridegroom. The couple now resides at 207 Sturdy Road, Apt. 1, Valparaiso, Ind. 46383.

The bride graduated from Circleville High School in 1973 and from Ball State University in Muncie in 1975 with an associate arts degree.

The bridegroom graduated in 1971 from Valparaiso High School and Ball State University in Muncie, Ind. in 1975, with a bachelor of science degree in business administration. He is employed by Northern Indiana Bank of Valparaiso as loan officer.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Luce, Mattie and Heather, of Minnesota. Others were from Valparaiso, Fort Wayne and Indianapolis, Ind.; Circleville, Mt. Sterling and Cleveland, Ohio.

'Summer Vacation' Theme Of Final Summer Meeting For Circleville OES

"Summer Vacation" was the central theme carried out during the Tuesday evening meeting of Circleville Chapter 90, OES, as there will be no meetings in July and August. Arrangements of summer flowers were used throughout the chapter room and in the dining room. Small roses attached to white netting were used for pin ons.

Following the ritualistic opening of chapter Mrs. Elaine Bowman, Worthy Matron read a selection entitled "The Rose In The Garden Of Life" and conducted the business session. She made the announcement that the past matrons would sponsor a bake sale on July 19th at Crownover Campground, and called attention to the first meeting in September when the Masonic brothers will be honored, and the second meeting at which time the new organ will be dedicated and the chapter will be honored by the grand visitation of the worthy grand patron.

Mrs. Bowman conducted a brief memorial service for Mrs. Daisy Acord, a past matron, whose death occurred June 18 in Clearwater, Fla. She concluded the memorial by reading Revelations 21:4.

The initiation ceremony was in charge of Clarence Radcliffe, worthy patron, and conducted by chapter officers. Degrees were conferred on Patricia Jacobs, Anna May Rooker, and Marilyn Bingman. Mrs. Betty Bingman was a candidate pro-term. As part of the ceremony Mrs. Lois Hefelfinger sang a selection entitled "Thank God For A Garden." Following the initiation Byron LeMay, associate patron, presented small white Bibles, gifts from the chapter, to the new members.

During the closing of chapter the worthy patron read from the poem "Travelling" and wished for all a happy vacation. Mrs. Bowman thanked her committees and those officers who postponed their vacations until after the final summer meeting.

The social hour which followed in the dining room was in charge of co-chairmen Mrs. June Marshall and

Mrs. Rosemary Horn. Posters of vacation lands were mounted on the walls of the room. On the serving table was a large globe from which streamers were attached to autos, trains, ships, and various other means of vacation travel. Paper ribbons of red, white, and blue were laid down the length of the table. The two long tables were also decorated with long ribbons of red, white, and blue. Vacation equipment and entertainment was suggested by the variety of articles centered along the length of the tables. The next regularly scheduled meeting will be Sept. 9th. Officers will wear street dress.

Scioto Downs Hosts Draw

DISCUSS LOTTERY—Making plans for Ohio's fifth millionaire drawing, which will be held Aug. 5 at Scioto Downs, are Charles D. Hill, left, president of Scioto Downs; Robert S. Steele, standing, executive vice president of the race track; and Tom Cooper, regional sales manager for the Ohio Lottery Commission.

The Ohio Lottery Commission Thursday announced that Ohio's fifth millionaire drawing will take place on August 5, at Scioto Downs Race Track. The commission reported that to date 76 finalists have been selected for the drawing in which 100 contestants will compete for $1,250,000 in prize money.

The schedule of events at Scioto Downs will take place as follows: before the first race, which will take place at 7:45 p.m. each contestant will place a ball bearing his number in a tumbler that will be placed on stage. After the first and each succeeding race through the sixth race, balls will be drawn from the tumbler so that ten super finalists will be ready to take the stage and compete for the day's big prize money.

The eighth race, The Ohio Lottery Millionaire Derby, will determine which of the finalists will become Ohio's fifth millionaire, while the remaining nine will go home with prizes ranging from $100,000 to $10,000. Each contestant will draw the name of a horse in the eighth race and his prize will be based on how his horse finishes the race.

After the ninth race, ten additional balls will be drawn from the tumbler to determine additional prize payments of $1,000 to those contestants who were not among the ten finalists. Each contestant on arrival at the track will receive a check for $1,000.

Robert Malaga, executive director of the Ohio Lottery, stated, "August the 5th will be an exciting day at Scioto Downs where the track management has opened the gates free for the entire evening of racing. All Ohioans are invited to join the festivities at beautiful Scioto Downs."

Play Producer Succumbs At 90

PLEASANT MILLS, N.J. (AP)—Mrs. Ada V. Fenno, who lived in a rustic mill here where she produced plays in the 1950s, is dead at the age of 90.

She died Tuesday in the antique-filled apartment that occupied one end of the old mill along the Nescochague Creek near the historic town of Batsto. Her quarters overlooked an open, interior courtyard crossed by a trough where paper once passed over drying rollers. At the far end was the small theater where actors including Tony Perkins and Efram Zimbalist Jr. performed summer stock from 1952 to 1957.

U.S. Aid Mission Closes In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The United States closed its aid mission in Communist-dominated Laos Thursday ending a 20-year, billion dollar commitment.

All remaining U.S. aid officials were told to leave the country, and U.S. Embassy officials doubted further assistance to Laos would be approved by Washington.

The shutdown — five days ahead of the June 30 deadline — followed two months of anti-American harassment as the Laotian coalition government came under the increasing domination of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

AIRSHOW, SUNDAY, JUNE 29
Whatever else you do (or don't do), don't forget or miss the airshow here Sunday.

Breakfast starts at 8 a.m. and lunch at 12 noon. The airshow starts at 1 p.m. If you can't drive, walk or crawl out here, call us and we'll try to get someone to come and get you.

Now, I've made a mistake and that's one in a row. Last week I told you about our new flag pole put in by the VFW. Well, that was partly right. Bob Hemphre of the VFW helped install it, but it was donated by the VFW and the American Legion. So instead of running a flag up the pole — guess what. Yeah, come get me down. Sorry fellas, it was an honest oversight.

And then, a couple of weeks ago, we had a flying association meeting and Lindsey's Bakery gave us 10 dozen doughnuts. Now, how anyone could forget 10 dozen doughnuts is beyond me, but I did. Lindsey's are great. Thanks.

Now before I forget ole Dick River and he cuts my fuel supply and my throat, Dick donated a beautiful swing set for the kids. He even helped us put it together and in spite of that, it still works. Thanks Dick, the kids love you. How's your daughter?

Well, what else did I forget? I don't know, I forgot.

Oh yeah — first lady student to actually start is Henri Jonas. Hi Henrietta. Henri's husband, Ding Dong, is also a private (I mean pilot), and is working on his instrument rating.

Our open house and picnic June 22 was a success. We had about 30 families here with enough food to feed Cox's Army and Cox finally showed up and we still had food left.

We'd like to thank John Fuller, Ken Costlow, and Dave Valentine. Without their efforts, the event would have been a calamity.

Alana Costlow, Ken's daughter, also did her share and that of at least four

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Judge Frederick T. Williams of Franklin County Common Pleas Court ruled

Movie '666' At Ashville First Baptist

The new and spine-chilling dramatic film, "666," will be shown 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Ashville First Baptist Church located on State Route 316.

Produced by the Evangelical Christian Research Foundation of Dallas, Texas, and released by Gospel Films, Inc. of Muskegon, "666" tells the story of five men who enter a museum of man far below the level of the earth to feed the best of what man has learned through the centuries into the memory banks of the latest computers.

They have even learned how to program those computers with three dimensional art so that it is even protected from the destruction of the great war at the end of days.

Their instruments suddenly reveal that a nuclear holocaust does occur and that they are trapped. As they put their computers to work trying to discover what has happened, it constantly prints out the truths of Bible prophecy and their amazing parallel to secular history.

Each man is forced to make a judgment concerning his impending death and eternity beyond.

It is a unique Bible-based, highly dramatic, science fiction film that is filled with excitement and suspense. Nothing like it has ever been filmed before. It has a solid spiritual message that leads to commitment to the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Rev. Kenneth H. Geren, is the Pastor.

that six partisan bills passed by Democratic legislators in the dying days of the administration of former Gov. John J. Gilligan could not become law.

But, he did not rule on possible procedural defects in the legislation, saying it was not necessary that he decide that question.

Republicans claimed that Democratic leaders had not fulfilled the requirement that bills must be read on three separate days in each House.

Williams, a Republican, avoided the issue, but couldn't resist offering a parenthetical comment.

"The court does take note," Williams wrote in his 16-page decision, "of the astute judgment made, I believe, by Samuel Ichiye Hayakawa, former president of San Francisco State College, to the effect that for our own good there are some things in life we would better off not to see made, the most notable of which are sausages and laws."

"Dr. Hayakawa, or whoever made the observation, is, indeed, a very wise man."

Sure, you knew that masked man in the corridor of the Ohio House of Representatives outside the Speaker's office.

It was the Lone Ranger, of course. Well, it was a six-foot full-color acrylic of the famous good guy astride his white horse, Silver, anyway. The Mansfield Art Center sent the airbrushed art work to the capitol as part of an exhibit. You could buy this Lone Ranger for $700 sans Tonto.

Richard Jackson, Ohio's transportation director, would appear to have more than his share of problems.

The future course of his department depends on a $1.64 billion bond issue, which can be put on the November ballot only if Gov. James A. Rhodes can collect 307,000 signatures on petitions by Aug. 6.

Then voters would be asked to approve raising the seven-cent state gasoline tax by ninetenths of a cent to pay off the bonds.

The department remains "basically broke" in matching available federal money, said Jackson. The overall situation is such that majority Democrats have removed the transportation budget from the major appropriations bill for separate consideration.

But, Jackson continues optimistic. "I don't have any problem with that," he tells newsmen and legislators. "Hey, I've found that tomorrow is going to come around with or without me."

'Entertainer' Scheduled At Nazarene Church

Lou Foster, nationally known as "The Entertainer" will present a sacred musical concert 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Darbyville Church of the Nazarene.

The pastor of the church is the Rev. Jack Lewis.

And he said unto them Take Heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth. Luke 12:15.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Ohio National Guardsmen were as surprised as anyone that a sunny noon on May 4, 1970, was followed by a deadly clash with protesters at Kent State University, a federal jury has been told here.

The National Weather Service said temperatures will be about the same—generally in the 80s.
Somewhat drier air will be drifting over the state tonight and Saturday is expected to be mostly sunny and a little warmer. Little chance of showers was predicted for Saturday.
Fog was reported over most of the state early today with limited visibility in several areas.

Credit Plan Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Without a single dissenting vote, the House has approved legislation that would require credit unions to carry insurance guaranteeing the financial integrity of members' shares.
The Senate-passed bill was approved 85-0 and returned to the upper chamber for concurrence on technical amendments.
The measure would require all Ohio credit unions to be insured by a state or federal share guaranty program by Dec. 31, 1978.
The sponsor, Sen. Robert E. O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, said, "Since the member and his savings are the most important part of any credit union, these savings should have maximum protection under the law."

Maj. Raymond Srp, then a captain in charge of Troop G, 107th Armored Cavalry, said events had quieted down that Monday after a weekend of rioting. The weekend's events included breaking windows and setting a fire in a street downtown and burning of the campus Reserve Officers Training Corps building.
"The school day was returning to normal, and we had withdrawn from certain positions," Srp said Thursday. "There was a change in attitude."
Srp said he and 1st Sgt. Myron Pryor had been discussing lunch just before the noon rally which guardsmen were ordered to disperse. The dispersal maneuver led to the gunfire some 20 minutes later that killed four students and wounded nine.
The victims and their families seek $46 million in damages from Gov. James Rhodes, three ex-state officials and 39 present and former guardsmen.
Srp had been asked how Pryor could have failed to know that guardsmen's weapons were loaded as Pryor testified here last week. Srp said Pryor might have been back at the armory in Ravenna, seeing to details such as lunch.
Srp said he had not expected the shootings and was shocked when he heard gunfire behind him on a campus slope called Blanket Hill.
The officer said he had been leading his men up the hill and was 15 yards ahead of the shooters when the shots rang out.

Testifying about physical punishment his men had taken during the weekend and on a practice football field moments before the shooting, Srp said "the situation was escalating" and that the lives of his men had been in danger at the time of the shooting.
But Srp said he did not feel his own life threatened at the time.
Just before court recessed Thursday for the weekend, former guardsman Frank Haas took the witness stand and testified he did not know where the .45-caliber pistol assigned to him was the day of the shooting.
Attorneys for the victims have sought to lay the groundwork for an attempt to prove that Pryor fired his pistol that day, despite his persistent denials over the last five years.
The FBI has reported that the weapon assigned to Pryor was not fired but that Haas's weapon was although Haas was not at the campus at the time of the shooting.
Haas told the jury of seven men and six women he asked the troop armorer for pistol No. 69 but received pistol 63 because his was not in the arms room.
Haas acknowledged that Pryor, as the unit's top noncommissioned officer, had access to the arms room and weapons records.

Fairness Of School Bill Concerns Superintendent

Circleville City School Superintendent Fritz F. Jacobs today expressed deep concern over the overall effects of Am. Sub. SB 70 currently before the House Commerce and Labor Committee of the Ohio General Assembly.
Jacobs noted that the bill as recommended by the House Commerce and Labor subcommittee is improved over the Senate version. However, he noted, further changes are needed to make the bill fair for school boards and taxpayers.
Some of the measures which Jacobs expressed concern over included:
(1) The Ferguson Act which prohibits public employees from striking would be repealed but adequate penalties for illegal strikes are not currently a part of the bill.
(2) Compulsory binding arbitration is mandated as a method for ending legal strikes. Jacobs said, "This removes control by elected officials and places it in the hands of a third party who is not responsible to the voters of the district. At the very least, adequate procedural safeguards in the arbitration process ought to be provided."
(3) Administrators below the level of Asst. Superintendent are also authorized to form collective bargaining units. "This provision, contrary to union activities in the private sector, would mandate that management bargain with management," Jacobs pointed out. "No other public management or supervisory groups are given the right to bargain," he said. "This represents the grossest form of special interest legislation."

(4) An agency shop can be negotiated, which if successfully agreed to at the table would require non-union members to pay a fee to the union that represents them.
"These issues coupled with a provision in the school finance bill which would permit one-third plus one teacher in our system to close the schools and therefore legalize strikes, should be of major concern to those interested in local lay control of education," he said. He also pointed out that if bus drivers were to strike and more than one-third of the students could not get to class, for that reason or any other reason, schools would have to be closed.
Jacobs urged residents of the Circleville area to contact area representatives and senators to express their concern that such legislation is not in the best interest of the general public and especially the Circleville City School District.

Alleged Arson Leader Breaks Fast

By BOB POLLACK
The Evening Sentinel
Copyright 1975
BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — The man accused of masterminding the biggest arson case in FBI history walked slowly into the visitors' room of the state jail, aided by a guard. His knees were weak from an eight-day hunger strike over the bond he couldn't post.
The Rev. David Bubar, 47, of Memphis, Tenn., said in a copyright interview with The Evening Sentinel of Ansonia that he broke the fast because "I had accomplished my purpose." He said he wanted to draw attention to the problems of high bail, especially for poor people, and pretrial confinement.
The minister's followers in Memphis raised the $10,000 the bondsman wanted to guarantee release on a $100,000 bond, but an additional $90,000 in securities, such as property, stocks or jewelry, has been requested, The Sentinel learned.
Bubar was one of 10 men indicted in the March 1 explosions and fire that destroyed much of the $10 million Shelton plant of Sponge Rubber Products Co. He will not discuss the case on advice of his attorney, except to maintain his innocence.

"I am guilty of nothing. I hope to set an example for people in trouble all over the country so they can take heed."
Federal officials have accused eight Pennsylvania men, plus Bubar and the president of Sponge Rubber's parent company, of conspiring to blow up the plant to collect insurance.
Bubar is free on bond on the federal charges. He is being held on state conspiracy charges and faces arraignment Tuesday at 10 a.m. before Superior Court Judge George A. Saden in Bridgeport.
Bubar says it is wrong for a man with no prior police record to be confined before he is proven guilty.
But he said he had been treated well during his incarceration. "The staff here has been gracious and honorable. I was really surprised. They even brought trays of food to my door, though I refused them."

Prison officials speculated that Bubar might have taken nourishment during the fast because they found two oranges and a carton of milk in his bed. But Bubar said those were gifts, which he refused, and that he had taken nothing during the fast but water until Wednesday morning, when he drank some orange juice.
Bubar described the infirmary as relatively comfortable but said the new wing of the Bridgeport jail is "an electronic horror chamber" because of the rock and roll music played through speakers.
The Baptist minister — psychic advisor to Charles Moeller, the company president also under federal indictment in the case — said he has prayed a great deal during his prison stay. He also said he has written the outline for two theological books and expects to be able to write even more in the quiet of his infirmary room.

See Freedom For Patients

WASHINGTON (AP) — An ex-carpenter who waged a 15-year battle against confinement in a Florida mental hospital has earned himself a niche in the history of treatment for mental illness.
Ruling in the case of Kenneth Donaldson of York, Pa., the Supreme Court held Thursday that it is unconstitutional for a state hospital to confine, against his will and without giving him treatment, a mental patient who is not a danger to himself or others.
The immediate impact of the mental hospital decision was far from clear.
Bruce J. Ennis, an attorney for the Mental Health Law Project of the American Civil Liberties Union, predicted that thousands — if not hundreds of thousands — of patients would be released by state and county mental hospitals.
A spokesman for St. Elizabeth's Hospital, a federal mental institution in Washington, suggested that the decision would make psychiatrists "feel uneasy" but was unable to say whether any patients would be released.

Ten Pickaway youth have recently returned from Ohio 4-H Club Congress. They are:

Charles Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts, Route 1, New Holland; Gene List, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert List, Route 2, Ashville; John Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hoffman, Route 2, Circleville; Cynthia Gifford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gifford, Route 1, Circleville; Betsy Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Day, Route 1, New Holland; Brenda Bolender, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Bolender, Route 4, Circleville; Timberlee Hamrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hamrick, Route 2, Mt. Sterling; Barbara Hedges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hedges, 11754 Circleville Avenue, Ashville; Cindy Woodruff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Woodruff, Route 2, Ash-ville; Joyce Woolever, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Woolever, Route 2, Ashville. The delegates were selected by the 4-H Awards Committee on the basis of their participation and leadership in 4-H and in their community.

While at Club Congress with delegates from across the state, the Pickaway county youth learned about careers through job tours. They also learned about the state legislature by taking over the Ohio legislature for one day, and discussing and passing a bill. The delegates stayed at The Ohio State University so they could become better acquainted with the university setting.

The experience of meeting other, learning about the world around them and making lasting friendships with others makes the delegates mature greatly in the four days they are there.

Portuguese Life Remains Grim

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — When the revolution came to Portugal 14 months ago, Maria de Lourdes Morais thought all the guns and red flags would bring her a new house, more money and the right to tell the rich ladies she worked for what they could do with their complaints and nagging.

As it turns out, her country's lurch leftward has meant that she still earns 60 cents an hour as a seamstress and still lives in a dark furnished room. Many of the rich ladies she sewed for have fled the country to be replaced by the wives of Socialist or Communist officials. And she doesn't sass them either.

"Where would I get work?" she asks. "Who would take care of me when I get sick? Who would pay the rent? The new government has done nothing for me except let me go to demonstrations and shout 'Death to the Fascists!' Even then, there was this Communist who told us we had to stand at attention for five minutes. I'm 52 years old. I don't stand at attention. He's crazy!"

When Carlos Marques, a warehouseman for a medical supply firm, hears about Mrs. Morais, he shakes his head. He is a member of the Communist-influenced Portuguese Democratic Movement (MDP) and the walls of his little apartment look like a Marxist poster show: workers, farmers and soldiers linking arms, Soviet cosmonauts, proud women with babies.

"It's just a lack of education," he says. "Look at the great battles that have been won already — granting independence to the African colonies and nationalizing so many of our firms. Politically unsophisticated people don't understand why these things take the attention of the Armed Forces Movement first. A seamstress has the right to aspire to improved living standards, but she must understand that there are other priorities and that she is a vestige of capitalism."

Marques, who worked hauling boxes fulltime when he was 11, was a clandestine leftist before the revolution, hiding tracts and literature under his bed.

He says that now he and all his coworkers are getting a month's paid vacation, instead of a week or two, and his salary has gone up $20 a month. But where can he go on vacation when his monthly pay is $168 and how far does a raise go when the inflation rate is 30 per cent?

On the fifth floor of an apartment building under construction across the river from Lisbon, a plasterer named Manuel Fernandes Videira coughs in a white mist and says nobody should count on him when they're lining up to battle the counterrevolutionaries.

"Very few of my buddies think there's anything worth fighting for," he says. "Maybe for a job, but not much else."

When a reporter talked to Videira just after the overthrow of the old regime, he was ebullient, telling how his boss had suddenly become the poliest of men toward his workers. But he said many of the workers have been fired, and the job market can only get worse with the addition of hundreds of thousands of demobilized soldiers and refugees from the old African colonies.

"I don't think life is better and I don't think it will improve," Videira says. "Maybe there are some who do, but I don't see it. My boss is a bad guy all over again."

Urge New Election In New Hampshire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's chief election officer has called on the U.S. Senate to order a new election to end the controversy over the vacant New Hampshire Senate seat.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, a past president of the National Association of Secretaries of State said further attempts by the Senate to settle the contested election "delays the right to full representation by the people of that state and will lead to a complete breakdown of confidence in the electoral process by Americans everywhere."

Acts like a big one!

That's because it's built like one! You can tell when you watch it. You can tell when you hear it. And, you can tell when you've had it a few years. The reason: Big-tractor features like the rugged IH water-cooled engine, big tires and wheels, all-gear true tractor-type transmission and heavy construction. All give it the guts to handle bigger tools and heavier loads. And, make it last! While the supply lasts, come in and see for yourself. Then, let's make a deal.

Snowfall Covers Fountain Square

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Snowflakes fell on downtown Cincinnati's Fountain Square Wednesday and it was anybody's guess how long they could last in the stifling 80-degree heat.

In fact, that's why downtown promoters staged the mini-blizzard.

An ice-making machine coughed out two and a half tons of the white stuff, producing a four-foot high mound.

The public was invited to guess how long the snow would last in the sweltering heat which has gripped the city.

A security guard patrolled the cordoned-off area to make sure the snow melted on its own.

Officials said the snow was expected to be gone by early afternoon.

More Peanuts Being Stored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Crop Reporting Board says that 38 per cent more peanuts were being held in commercial facilities May 31 than a year ago.

That came out to a total of about 1.27 billion pounds, including 580 million pounds of actual farmers' stock, shelled peanuts equal to 655 million pounds of farmers' stock and 30 million pounds for in-shell roasting.

It doesn't include 327 million pounds held by the Commodity Credit Corp. for crushing, officials said. A year ago, the CCC held no stocks of peanuts.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, who wants to get the government out of peanuts, told reporters Thursday he sees no prospect for phasing out the program "until it starts to cost us $75 to $100 million a year."

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Several weeks ago we wrote an article containing some tips for these little ball players in the art of hitting a baseball.

Just so we are not considered biased and want to be fair in this thing, we would like to offer a little advice to the future Bob Fellers and Sandy Koufaxes who take the long walk to the mound and sometimes a longer walk back—when things aren't going right and it just isn't his night.

We are firm believers that little league pitchers should never attempt to throw anything but a fast ball and it is up to the manager to see that he does just that. Those young arms are not fully developed and many a youngster has come up with a "curve ball" elbow that could really ruin his baseball career.

Control is the thing—Work on it until you can put the ball right where you want it—Remember, a walk is just as good as a hit. If you can gain good control and can keep the ball around the knees in the strike zone, there will be very few hitters that are going to get much wood on the ball.

When you are on the mound, keep the ball in your glove until you get ready to pitch and don't let the batter see it until the last possible second. Have the catcher set the glove and then concentrate on it—This is your target—Keep watching it as you make your pitch.

As you start the pitch bring the front foot up high, as the more motion the batter sees the less he will concentrate on the ball.

Now as you stride toward the plate with the front leg, push hard off the rubber with the back foot and follow through. Come overhand with the pitch—don't try to be a sidearm.

When you push hard off the rubber with the back foot this puts your body behind the pitch and prevents you from becoming an arm thrower. This will increase the speed of your pitch.

You should end up with both feet spread and even so you are in position to field any ball hit your way.

These are just a couple of the basic things that should help you to become the hurler that you would like to be and can be if you work at it.

Just remember—When you're on the mound and that slugger steps into the box—You have to know that you are better than he is—And then prove it.

Circleville residents will have an added incentive to attend the Ohio High School All-Star game Saturday at Ohio State University. It has been announced by the South coaches that our own Scott Bowman will be a starting offensive guard for the squad.

Our "fearless" forecast—It will be a calmer Palmer who shuts the Western Open.

Until next time, have a nice day—be a good sport.

Johnny Bench Leads NL Voting

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Bench of Cincinnati has become the first player in history to draw more than 1 million National League All-Star ballots for the sixth consecutive year, the baseball commissioner's office announced Friday.

Sports Bias Action Set In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House education subcommittee will take action on new federal regulations forbidding sex discrimination at schools and colleges receiving federal funds as soon as Congress returns from its 10-day recess, the subcommittee's chairman says.

After completing six days of hearings on the regulations Thursday, Chairman James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., said the subcommittee's counsel is researching the options open to the panel. These include approving or rejecting the regulations as a whole or voting separately on sections of the regulations.

"I don't know how we will tackle the problem," said O'Hara. "It depends on how the issue is framed (by the lawyers)."

He said, however, he doubted that much support could be generated in the subcommittee for outright disapproval of the rules.

"If someone is to propose wholesale disapproval, that would have less support than a proposal on specific sections of the regulations," he said.

O'Hara also said if it is concluded that the House post-secondary education subcommittee legally can separate the regulations, as opposed to taking them as an entity, three or four resolutions could be proposed.

As examples, he said, one could be whether the Department of Health, Education and Welfare went beyond the scope of the law in requiring the schools to take affirmative action in implementing the rules.

NFL Can't Agree On Player Limits

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League was unable to reach a decision concerning player limits Thursday and will try again Friday when it resumes its annual meetings.

NFL directors have been haggling over the size of player rosters and had expected to make a decision Thursday, but now will have to extend the session another day. Last year teams were permitted to carry 47 players but some clubs would like to see that number reduced this season.

North-South Grid Collision Nears

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bigger North team and a South squad considered quicker square off Saturday in the 1975 Ohio High School All-Star football game in Ohio Stadium.

The contest, the first in the series for Ohio State's giant horseshoe, will start at 4 p.m. with officials expecting a crowd of around 20,000.

"The North has greater depth and has super backs," said South Coach John Behling, who led New Philadelphia into the Ohio Class AAA playoffs last fall before switching to Canton Glen Oaks.

"This is my biggest coaching challenge," he continued. "Our quickness may be a big help. We have to beat the North with our team balance."

Ed Glass, the North head coach, was saying little about the series, which his side leads 14-12. Three games have ended in deadlocks.

"I expect a very good game between two evenly-matched teams. One thing for sure, the North boys will be ready," promised Glass, the coach of Warren Harding's 1974 Class AAA playoff champions. Since then, Glass has taken the head job at Hubbard.

Glass will start four stars from his championship team, defending the move by saying, "Those Harding players wouldn't be starting if they weren't the best at their positions."

The Warren starters for the North will be offensive end Jackie Hudson, offensive tackle Ray Amos, running back John Ziegler, the Class AAA State Back of the Year, and linebacker Kelton Dansler.

Three South backs, Bill Haines of Sidney, Phil Tidrick of New Philadelphia and Greg Meckstroth of Cincinnati Oak Hills, have been hurt. However, Behling expects the trio to be ready by kickoff time.

Only one player for each side is certain to start both on offense and defense.

Tim Burke of Wapakoneta will be the South regular at offensive tackle and defensive cornerback.

The North will use Byron Cato, Lorain King's mammoth two-way tackle, on offense and defense, too.

The Ohio High School Football Coaches Association's Hall of Fame inductions will be part of a banquet tonight.

The 1975 inductees, all former coaching greats, are the late Dick Barrett of Youngstown, Hilton Murphy of Toledo, Bron Bracevich of Cincinnati, Sky Wharton of Coshocton and Ralph Robinette of North Lima.

Stoutsville Girls Capture Softball Tournament

Stoutsville's major and minor teams both captured their respective divisions in the girls softball tournament held at Stoutsville.

The Stoutsville Minors gained first place by beating Washington, 21-1, Saltcreek, 16-1, and Circleville, 17-5.

Circleville placed second with Saltcreek coming in third.

In the Major Division, Stoutsville won the event by beating Washington, 30-3, Laurelville, 11-10 in extra innings, and Circleville, 11-5.

Circleville topped Saltcreek for second place with Laurelville taking third.

Trophies were awarded to each team that placed in the tournament.

In an added attraction, the WTVN-Sixers stomped the Stoutsville fathers, 29-2.

The league will sponsor a round and square dance Saturday from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the National Guard Armory in Tarlton.

Logan Elm Opens Mid State Tourney Saturday

The drawing for the Mid State Summer League Tournament at Lancaster High school has been completed it was announced by Logan Elm coach Vic Pontius today.

Logan Elm will face Liberty Union at 9 a.m. in the first game of the tourney Saturday. At noon Lancaster Blue will play Canal Winchester, Pickerington and Fairfield Union will play at 3 and Lancaster Gold will face Bloom Carroll at 6.

Second round games will be played 6 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday and the finals July 5 at 1 p.m.

Big Red Machine On Track

CINCINNATI (AP) — Maligned in the off-season as "has-beens," Cincinnati's Big Red Machine is back—and getting better mileage than ever.

The Machine was dismantled by the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1974 and pronounced a declining dynasty, but the 1975 model is alive and well.

The revamped Reds, who could do little right earlier this year when they lurched to a 20-20 start, can suddenly do no wrong.

They've won 27 of 34 games since then, giving credence to club president Bob Howsam's spring training platitudes that he had assembled the best team "since I've come here."

Howsam just may be right.

"We felt last spring that we had improved ourselves overall, but we still had to prove it on the field," said Howsam as the Reds readied for a weekend series with the San Diego Padres.

Cincinnati, 7½ games back little over a month ago, has opened a four game lead over the Dodgers in the National League Western Division race.

The Reds have widened their lead despite the costly loss of ace lefthander Don Gullett, "who had developed into our stopper," according to Howsam.

Howsam credits the blazing comeback to maturity and improved depth.

"We've done two things," said Howsam. "First, we now have a solid ballplayer at every position. Moving Pete Rose to third base has made a big difference. He likes to be in the thick of things. It has given us a stronger arm in left field and allowed us to put in a big bat."

"Secondly, our pitching has been strong with Gary Nolan coming along fine and our young pitchers improving," he said.

Long known for their booming bats, the Reds are more awesome than ever at the plate.

"Five of our first eight guys are batting over .300 and our No. 8 batter has nine home runs and is hitting over .270," he said.

Howsam was referring to George Foster, who has been sensational as a parttime replacement for Rose.

Joe Morgan, one of four Cincinnati players holding leads in All-Star balloting, has taken over league leadership in batting with a .355 average.

Right fielder Ken Griffey has a .321 mark, Rose is up to .319, catcher Johnny Bench has a .306 average and centerfielder Cesar Geronimo is at an even .300.

Since Gullett broke his pitching thumb June 16, the Reds have won six of eight games. Both losses were suffered by Nolan, who had won six straight prior to the setbacks.

Meanwhile Clay Kirby, 4-3, remains sidelined with a sore shoulder.

Manager Sparky Anderson credits his young pitchers will keep the patched-up pitching staff together.

Recently-recalled Tom Carroll has won both of his starts with exceptional outings and reliever Will McEnaney is the subject of high praise from Anderson.

"He's been the best pitcher we've had," said Anderson. McEnaney, a lefthander, has a club-high six saves and a sterling 1.67 earned run average.

HE THROWS AT 100 MPH—Fireballer Nolan Ryan of California Angels holds a ball indicating the speed of his fast ball after his pitches were electronically-timed before and during a game at Anaheim, Calif. One of Ryan's pitches was timed at 100.8 m.p.h., surpassing the fastest time-mark, that of Bob Feller, 98.6. It was announced later that the timing-machine had timed Ryan at 100.9 during a test last month.

Red Sox Bomb Yankees, 6-1

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

AP Sports Writer

The New York Yankees attended a Boston Tiant Party Thursday night and saw their five-game winning streak go in the drain.

Luis Tiant pitched a strong seven-hitter, rookie Fred Lynn drove in three runs with a triple and single and Carlton Fisk hit his first home run in more than a year as the Red Sox thrashed a capacity crowd of 34,293 with a 6-1 triumph in the opener of a four-game series, leaving them just one-half game behind the Yankees in the American League's East Division.

Elsewhere, the Cleveland Indians walloped the Milwaukee Brewers 9-2, the Kansas City Royals trounced the California Angels 7-1, the Detroit Tigers edged the Baltimore Orioles 6-5 and the Chicago White Sox whipped the Texas Rangers 8-3. Oakland and Minnesota were not scheduled.

Tiant, 11-6, registered his fourth consecutive triumph after being nicked for a run in the first inning on Chris Chambliss' long sacrifice fly which scored Walt Williams all the way from second base.

The Red Sox got three runs off Pat Dobson in the fourth on singles by Rick Burleson and Carl Yastrzemski, Lynn's triple and a single by Cecil Cooper.

Fisk, playing only his fourth game since suffering a serious knee injury last June 28 and a broken forearm in spring training, touched off a three-run seventh with his first homer since June 17, 1974.

Indians 9, Brewers 2

John Lowenstein, Boog Powell and Buddy Bell drove in two runs apiece to lead the Indians to their fifth straight victory while Dennis Eckersley and Jackie Brown blanked the Brewers until Darrell Porter's two-run homer in the ninth inning.

Tigers 6, Orioles 5

Gene Michael's eighth-inning single, his third hit of the game, drove in the tie-breaking run and enabled Mickey Lolich to beat the Orioles for the 25th time in his career, more than any other active pitcher. Lolich allowed only five hits, including homers by Dave Duncan and Paul Blair, and four of Baltimore's runs were unearned.

The setback was the fifth in a row for the Orioles while the Tigers ended a six-game skid.

Royals 7, Angels 1

Fred Patek slammed a two-run homer — his first of the season — George Brett singled three times and doubled and Marty Pattin scattered nine hits for the Royals. It was Kansas City's sixth straight victory against California and Pattin's second win over the Angels in eight days. Last week he fired a five-hit shutout. By winning, the Royals climbed to within 4½ games of idle Oakland in the American League West.

White Sox 8, Rangers 3

Bill Melton's grand slam homer off Ferguson Jenkins capped Chicago's five-run eighth inning and gave the White Sox an 8-2 lead en route to their fifth victory in a row. Mike Hargrove homered for Texas. Wilbur Wood gained the victory, but was helped by Pat Kelly's diving catch in the fifth inning and relief from Rich Gossage in the seventh.

Speaker's Birthday 'Celebrated'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thursday was House Speaker Vern Riffe's 50th birthday and his colleagues made sure that the occasion was observed in proper fashion.

"He may claim to be the youngest grandfather in the state of Ohio," said Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess in offering a congratulatory resolution, "and his youthful appearance has fooled many people into thinking that he could be Ohio's youngest representative. Well, 'whatever's fair,' the truth must be told to all. Mr. Riffe, today, has reached his fiftieth year."

Riffe, who likes to be vague about his age, at first denied everything. "I've been told many times up here that if there's one thing, I know how to do it's count," he insisted.

True enough. But the reference is to counting votes, not years.

"He has reached the pinnacle and from now on it is all down hill as the momentum of the later years begin to take their toll," Kurfess continued. "Thinning hair and fallen arches, bifocals and sagging muscles cast ominous shadows on our speaker's future. So before it is too late, let us celebrate."

The resolution was overwhelmingly approved by a rising vote. As the legislators stood, they flashed placards bearing the number 50.

Witnesses Jam Streets

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Traffic Commissioner Henry Doberstyn took a leaf from his football play book today to try to cope with the crowds jamming the downtown area for the district assembly of the Jehovah's Witnesses at the Stadium.

The more than 54,000 Witnesses streaming toward the Stadium Thursday created massive traffic jams during rush hour.

Doberstyn ordered into effect the traffic pattern which is used during Cleveland Browns football games and assigned 13 additional policemen to rush hour traffic duty.

The special traffic pattern will add northbound lanes toward the Stadium for the morning rush and southbound in the evening.

Doberstyn said at least 50,000 cars were caught in Thursday's traffic jam. Traffic was backed up on Memorial Shoreway, the Innerbelt freeway and on downtown streets.

Jonathon Peck Dead

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Jonathan Peck, 30, one of five children of actor Gregory Peck, was found shot to death Thursday. Authorities said they believe he committed suicide. Peck, a reporter for a television station in nearby Santa Maria, was found in his home with a gunshot wound in his head.

WINNING FORM—The Logan Elm High School Majorettes received one of the top ratings at the United States Drill Team Association camp at the University Dayton. The girls, participating in eight competitive events, claimed all 43 of 43 available ribbons and first and second place trophies. They competed against four other majorette groups at the five-day training seminar. Leading the group is head majorette Teresa Buskirk (center). In the first row from the left are Terry Penwell and Lora Beavers, and in the back are Jackie Cave, Kim Williams, and Diane Moss.

On Books And Activities At The Library

Through the generosity of the Super-X Drug Co., the Pickaway County District Public Library is able to give patrons three new interest areas for browsing. The cabinets donated by Super-X are in three areas. For Summer travel, real and vicariously, check the cabinet in the check-out area. For religious and inspirational material, look for the display in the Reference room and for consumer or health information, check the non-fiction stack area in the back of the library. Take time to explore these new areas. Get to know your library this Summer and enjoy the many good things it has to offer.

Some really interesting new titles have arrived this week. Let's start with interesting things to do. If you're a do-it-yourselfer or enjoy the unusual, you'll be pleased to see the set of "where-to-find-it" books being put in our consumer section. It includes: "Kits And Plans" by Joseph Rosenbloom; "Homegrown Energy-Power For The Home and Homestead" by Gary Wade; "Spices, Condiments, Teas, Coffees, and Other Delicacies" by Roland Robertson; "The Complete Kitchen" by Anne Heck; "Country Tools" by Fred Davis. Don't miss these interesting guides.

Preserving what you grow is one way to beat the high cost of living. Sunset Books Publishing Company has a new edition entitled "Home Canning" just in time for the garden produce. It's also a good time for planning and building extra storage

New Doctor Locates In Circleville

The Board of Governors of Berger Hospital has announced the appointment of Primo Exconde, M.D., F.A.C.S., to the hospital medical staff.

Doctor Exconde received his medical training in the Philippines and completed his residencies in surgery at St. Raphael Hospital, New Haven, Conn. 1964-1969.

He was certified by the American Board of Surgery in 1972 and has been in practice in Woodstock, Ill. the past two years.

The doctor will open his office at 143 E. Main St., (the former Doctor V.D. Kerns office) on July 1.

Appointments may be made by calling 474-3053 between the hours of 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. He will limit his practice to general surgery.

Doctor Exconde, his wife, and one-year-old daughter are at present residing in Chillicothe.

Navy Grounds Phantom Jets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has grounded its entire fleet of 600 F4 Phantom jet fighters temporarily for safety inspections after a crash caused by a control failure, it was announced Thursday.

A Navy spokesman said the Phantoms will be returned to flying from aircraft carriers and ground bases as each is inspected and cleared.

The spokesman said 205 Phantoms have been inspected since the grounding was ordered five days ago and 54 of those planes were found to be defective.

space. "How To Make Bookshelves And Cabinets" and "Ideas For Storage" also by Sunset have lots of good plans.

Great for convenience cooking is the large print edition of "Cooking With Betty Crocker Mixes". It's especially helpful during busy Summer days.

With pretty, easy-care fabrics available for summer pants-suits, the seamstress will get a perfect fit by following directions in the new book "Pants" by Anna Romanuk.

Unusual jewelry can be had by creating your own. "Step-By-Step Jewelry" by Thomas Gentile and "Indian Silversmithing" by Hunt shows you how to do it.

"Batik Unlimited" by Joanifer Gibbs is full of new ideas for the batik enthusiast.

If Summer means getting away from it all to you, "Camping Around The Appalachian Mountains" by Brain and Mills is an excellent guide. It includes information on the Blue Ridge and the Great Smokies.

We haven't overlooked the stay at home readers. Non-fiction readers can go in several different directions. "Dolphins" by Jacques-Yves Cousteau is another of the beautiful and informative books that readers have come to associate with this explorer of the undersea world.

John Keel's book "The Mothman Prophecies" will interest readers in this area since it centers around the collapse of the Silver Bridge and the strange phenomena reported in that area several months prior to the disaster.

Handicapped children and how families learn to cope with them are the subjects of two new books. "Journey" by Robert and Suzanne Massie is the story of their hemophiliac son and how his ordeal has helped them find inner strength. "Is It Well With The Child" by Susan Strauss is the author's experience with her mentally handicapped son.

"Understanding Alcoholism" from the Smithers Foundation is a guide for the patient, the family and the employer of a victim of this disease.

Search for meaning titles include: "The Divine Yes" by E. Stanley Jones; "How Can I Find You, God?" by Marjorie Holmes; "Yoga, A Way Of Life" by Ronald Hutchinson. All three volumes offer guidelines for finding happiness in living.

Inflation has made consumers more aware of the need for wise money management. Sylvia Porter's "Money Book" is a complete guide to getting the most out of your dollar.

"White House Witness" by Jonathan Daniels is the diary of the author's years with FDR as his Administrative Aide.

For thirty years, mystery has surrounded the disappearance of a man dead for over half a million years. "The Search For Peking Man" by Christopher Janus reads like a novel of political intrigue. It's an incredible true story.

For the fiction readers, romances, western and modern up-beat novels are available.

Make this the Summer you discover YOUR Pickaway County District Public Library where there's something for everyone.

More Britons Held Inside Uganda

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin has arrested "some more Britons" to be taken before a military tribunal, the Uganda government radio announced today.

The broadcast from Kampala said they "will possibly face the same trial as Denis Hills because their cases are even worse than that of Hills."

Amin sentenced Hills, a 61-year-old British teacher and lecturer, to death for describing the Ugandan president as a village tyrant, in an unpublished manuscript. Amin has said he will spare Hills' life only if British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan comes to Uganda, but Callaghan says he will go only if Amin first removes the death sentence.

The Kampala broadcast warned Britain against continuing "anti-Amin propaganda." It said Amin's defense council advised him to "take a tougher line against the British in Uganda" and the more than 700 Britons still living in the former British colony, could be "in more trouble."

Meanwhile, Kenyan authorities seized a four-truck convoy bound for Uganda and deported five Soviet engineers accompanying it, putting them on a plane for Kampala. The newspaper Daily Nation said the trucks were carrying Soviet arms, but a Ugandan broadcast claimed they were tracked amphibious vehicles to be used as car ferries across the Nile river.

The Kenyan government gave no explanation for the seizure of the convoy. But presumably it was done in retaliation for Amin's recent charges that Kenya was going to be used as the base for a British invasion to rescue Hills.

Kenyan Defense Minister James Gichuru said Amin's allegation was "nonsense and provocative." The British government said it had no troops in Kenya and planned no military action against Uganda.

It was Peter Minuit, a Dutch colonial governor, who bought Manhattan Island from the Indians in 1626 for trinkets worth about $24.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Friends may want you to go on an unexpected outing. Go along with the idea. You'll have a good time.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): This should be a stimulating day. There's a chance that you'll meet some highly interesting (and influential) persons socially.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A splendid period for meeting up with your most interesting, energetic companions. They'll not only give you some good ideas, but a life in morale as well.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Care advised in domestic spending. A credit arrangement could turn out to be very expensive in the long run.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may need a mental uplift now. Don't brood. Determine to engage only in the activities which stimulate you most—and stick to your resolution.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Your Mercury, in excellent position, encourages written matters, communications generally. Give a good account of yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some good news or friendly cooperation should aid you in perfecting long-range plans. Study new trends and developments.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Here is a spot for you to outpoint those who are careless or who do not reckon with contingencies. A great day in which to display your ingenuity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Mixed influences. Special care needed in experimentation, hastily contrived messages and writings; also travel.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Don't overplay your hand, but stay in there pitching with the best of them. The right balance and careful decisions can bring top results soon.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A pleasant surprise indicated—possibly the settlement of a long-standing obligation. Artistic pursuits and romance especially favored now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Planetary influences stimulate inspirational ideas, intuition, inventiveness. Capitalize on your talents—even latent ones.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely sensitive, compassionate and responsive individual, devoted to home, family and friends. You tend to be jealous and over-possessive with loved ones, however, and should try to curb these traits since they tend to "strangle" the very ones whose affection you crave. You have a lively imagination and a delightful sense of humor; would make an excellent writer or entertainer. You could also succeed in the law—especially of the criminal variety—but, if not attracted to any of the aforementioned fields, may find your greatest happiness in science—especially medicine. Your affinity for the unknown and the untried, coupled with your investigative mind, would also make you a brilliant detective. Birthdate of: Henry VIII, OF England.

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC's weekly newsmagazine show, "The Reasoner Report," airs its final program Saturday with highlights of various stories and features seen on the show since it began in February 1973.

It's being replaced by a regular half-hour evening newscast.

ABC News President William Sheehan has said the change was ordered because ABC affiliates preferred a regular network newscast in the early Saturday evening time slot in which the "Reasoner Report" now appears.

But Harry Reasoner, who anchors the show as well as the network's weeknight newscasts, says he's certain there'll be another weekly newsmagazine program on ABC but probably not during next season.

"I hope there'll be one, because one of the things I really miss is the chance to go out three, four times a year and play reporter on a major story and I hope to find a way to do that," he said.

Reasoner, whose weeknight anchor duties tend to keep him tied down in Fun City, was asked if, in retrospect, he wished his weekend show had been given a Sunday night slot, like CBS' "60 Minutes."

"I do," said the 52-year-old newsman, a veteran of 14 years with CBS before he joined ABC in December 1970.

"My preferred time all along was 10:30 on Sunday nights.

"I think our main problem was station clearances," Reasoner added, referring to stations that preferred to air their own local programs early Saturday evenings instead of the "Reasoner Report."

"The show did well where it was and there was a good audience out there," he said. "But it was on during such a good local time for the stations and they just hated to give that time up."

In August 1965, the predominantly black community of Watts in Los Angeles was devastated by a six-day riot that left 34 dead, nearly 900 injured and property damage estimated at $45 million.

On Sunday night, NBC News is airing a one-hour news special, "A Country Called Watts," which looks back at that violence, what happened after it ended and what conditions are like there now.

The show, co-reported by Tom Pettit, a white, and Gail Christian, a black, interviews a variety of Watts residents, including Marquette Frye, whose attempted arrest by a highway patrol on suspicion of drunken driving ultimately led to the riots that tore Watts apart.

The program effectively uses aerial footage, old and

Thieves Take Roof Items From Hospital

Thieves struck the under-construction addition at Berger Hospital, again, taking $564.50 worth of roofing materials this time.

Jim Smith, Chillicothe, roofing superintendent for Mechanical Construction Co., Chillicothe, told police Thursday that the merchandise was hauled away June 21 or 22.

Police theorize that a number of men and trucks were needed to take the heavy merchandise, which included 1,200 pounds of asphalt hydroguard, 1,500 pounds of steep asphalt, and 25 rolls of asbestos felt paper.

The merchandise was stored outside the addition under a plastic cover.

Thieves broke into a truck owned by Douglas Marshall, 375 Clark Dr., 2 a.m. Friday to take a 20 gauge Stevens shotgun valued at $50 and two tennis rackets valued at $25.

The truck was parked in front of Marshall's house.

Larry Martin, 121 Pleasant St., told police that he found a length of hose sticking from the gas tank on his car 10:30 p.m. Thursday.

About eight gallons of fuel, valued at $5, were taken.

Police are searching for $278 of a reported $2,135 cash money that Burt Marburger, 315 John St., said was taken from his house.

Marburger told police that he was showing the house to two men who were interested in buying it 1:30 p.m. Thursday. While he was showing the well house to one of the men, Marburger claims the other went inside the dwelling, opened a chest, and took three wallets containing the cash.

Sgt. Wes Barton, investigating the theft, found $1,857 of the money in another drawer of the chest.

Post Office Realigns Districts

An administrative realignment from 23 to 17 postal districts in the 13-state Central Postal Region was announced by Regional Postmaster General Clarence B. Gels. He said, "The administrative management of the Toledo and Akron districts will be merged with the Columbus postal district and headquartered at Columbus. Mr. Francis E. Szollosi, former manager of the Toledo district will direct the new consolidated district. Mr. John Mizick will continue as officer in charge of the Columbus post office."

The new Columbus postal district includes the 360 post offices from the Toledo district, 230 Post offices in the Akron district and the 110 post offices in the Columbus district.

"Among the benefits of the consolidation will be tightening and streamlining of postal management in 700 post offices. A greater responsibility is being shifted to the more localized center where the postal action is," Gels said.

Gels notes, "The 13-state central postal region employees more than 195,000 postal workers in nearly 11,000 post offices and handles about 29 billion pieces of mail annually. Nearly one third of the nations total mail volume."

The new realignment also moves the district offices of Evansville and Ft. Wayne to Indianapolis, Grand Rapids, Mich. to Detroit and Springfield Mo. to St. Louis.

The incident occurred Tuesday afternoon at Ted Lewis Park, Police said. It was reported by the parents of the five-year-old.
